

Location

We are located in West Midtown Atlanta, in the White Provision Building where 14th Street dead ends on Howell Mill Road. 14th Street runs directly through midtown Atlanta, with a number of excellent hotels on its path. We also have direct and quick access to interstates I-75 and I-85.

Please see directions on the back page.

Building

The White Provision Building combines the timeless beauty of a thoughtfully restored industrial-era building right next door to ultramodern, state-of-the-art concrete and steel architecture.

From 1910 – 1963, the White Provision District served as the first large scale meat packing plant in the South. In 1991, the space began its transformation into the retail, business and residential area it is now.

The GACC South

The German American Chamber of Commerce of the Southern United States (GACC South) was founded in 1978 to promote and support bilateral trade between Germany and the U.S. We are a private, non-profit organization and serve as the official representative of German trade in the southern U.S.

Pre-function

Our entry area is a modern, open and well-lit space, perfect to welcome your guests. The area currently has two couches and one table. Four highboy tables are also available for entertaining.

Conference Room

This meeting space is able to host six people. It is perfect for smaller meetings and workgroups. It comes equipped with projection and conference calling capabilities, as well as a large flat screen TV connected to a computer and high-speed internet.

Porsche Board Room

The open, light and larger meeting space has a capacity of up to 22 and is perfect for Workshops, Presentations, and Conferences.

Like our conference room, it comes equipped with projection and conference calling capabilities, as well as a large flat screen TV connected to a computer and high-speed internet.
